Ogden, Nov. 28.—The law passed by the last legislature providing that itinerant peddlers must secure a license before they can follow their vocation in the State of Utah, is to be tested in the courts. For some time past several men who make it a business to travel through the country selling buggies of all kinds, have been doing business in the adjoining counties. The matter was brought to the attention of District Atty. Halverson, who on investigating the case, found sufficient grounds to prepare a complaint, charging George T. Bacon, George T. Bacon, George T. Bacon, and John Ecker with violating the law providing for an itinerant pedler's license, by selling and offering to sell buggies and other vehicles to residents of Davis county, in violation of the law. The case was placed in the hands of the sheriff of Davis county, who took them in custody, but they were released on bail.

For some time past these men have been doing a good business in selling vehicles much to the detriment of the business of the Utah wagon dealers, who pay heavy taxes, cents, etc., to conduct their business.

Mr. Bacon, one of the men charged with the offense, has been charged with a similar offense before in the state of Washington. He engaged an attorney, and got out a writ of habeas corpus, securing his release, and it was held that the law was unconstitutional. In Utah, however, District Attorney Halverson claims the law is different, and is constitutional, as it does not discriminate against any particular class of peddlers. The defendants have engaged an attorney and propose fighting the case to the supreme court, if necessary, before they will give up. They claim also to have beaten a similar case brought in Louisiana against them, and will fight this case to the end.

Thousands of dollars annually are taken out of the state by these itinerant buggy peddlers. The farmers in this vicinity are not troubled with these buggy sellers so much as they are in other parts of the state, especially in the south, where no large merchants do business direct with the people. Not alone is the selling of vehicles by these men against the law but the selling of any kind of goods or wares in this manner is forbidden, without a license. This will be the first arrest to be made under the new law, and will be made a test case. These men have about a car load of vehicles to dispose of, which are stored in Davis county.

Company B, Utah National Guard, is much interested in the proposition of a rifle team consisting of a captain, a coach, a spatter, 13 principal riflemen and three alternates, being sent to the National Rifle association matches to be held in 1908, at Camp Perry, Ohio. This team is to be selected from the entire guard and Captain Johnson of the local company hopes to have some of his men pass the examination for marksmanship and be selected as members of the team. Deputy County Clerk Hale yesterday was called upon by a young couple, well known Ogden people, to issue them a license to wed. The papers were prepared and the deputy requested the young man to be sworn, and went well until he came to the oath "of 21 years or over." The young man was truthful and at this point declined to take the oath, although only five days were between him and the 21 mark. The deputy informed him that he must either wait or get his parents to sanction the marriage. Alas, he said: "Just put the license away until Dec. 6, and we will be here for it."

On arrival at Montpelier the party will be driven to the Madison estate, which is now occupied by William Dupont and family. After an inspection of the ancient homestead the party will begin the return journey, taking luncheon on the train, reaching Washington at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The trip was arranged as a variation of the usual Thanksgiving at Pine Knot, Va., where Mrs. Roosevelt owns an estate. It is also in fulfillment of the president's desire to visit the homes of former presidents and make a pleasant outing for the holiday. A Thanksgiving day dinner will be given at the White House this evening.
